Elk Point remembers horrors of world wars

Gleaming parade boots crunched on new fallen snow, flags fluttered briskly in a sharp southeast wind, and a sizeable crowd shivered at attention as the trumpet sounded the Last Post and Elk Point silently remembered those who gave their lives for freedom in the two World Wars and in Korea.

Remembrance Day 1990 saw a mound of poppy decked wreaths placed at Elk Point's cenotaph by representatives of four levels of government, numerous organizations and businesses. Mrs. Bertilla Bent had the honor of placing the first wreath, as Silver Cross Mother. Sergeant Barry Kutryk of the Elk Point RCMP Detachment represented the federal government, MLA John Drobot the provincial government, Councillor Morris Cooper the Town of Elk Point and Councillor Bob Smith the County of St. Paul. President Helen Moneta laid the wreath for the Canadian Legion, while another Legion member, Mrs. Zillah Campbell, represented the Pioneer Circle.

Reverend Sam Donaldson of Elk Point United Church preceded the wreath laying ceremony with the prayer of invocation, while David Naber recited the famous John MacCrae poem, In Flanders Fields. Town Administrator Pat Vincent served as master of ceremonies both at the cenotaph and at the interdenominational service which followed in the Pioneer Circle Hall.

Legion President Moneta welcomed all who attended, and expressed special thanks to the "largest contingent ever" of RCM Police, whose scarlet tunics brightened the gloomy day in the parade and cenotaph service.

Councillor Cooper also praised those who came out, saying that it was "gratifying that so many people took time to remember."

John Zenko paid tribute not only to "the brave soldiers who lost their lives" in the three wars, but to "the veterans among us, who with the Legion, work to see that the contributions of all are not forgotten."

John Drobot remembered those "gathered from the hillside...and the glen" to answer the call to battle, and told those present that "the poppies we wear remind us of the cost of freedom."

Pat Vincent read a Remembrance Day message from Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, which recognized "the respect earned in the mud of Flanders...those Canadians who fought brought distinction to themselves and their nation." He also remembered "another generation of Canadians who are carrying on this tradition in the Persian Gulf" and saluted Canada's veterans for their great personal sacrifice.

Pastor Jim MacLellan of Elk Point Baptist Church and Rev. Donaldson conducted a brief worship service, with readings of scripture, prayers and hymns accompanied by pianist Gabrielle Bayduza. Pastor MacLellan spoke of the "awfulness of war" and gave the comforting advice that "the doers of iniquity shall be cut down like the grass. Trust in the Lord, and it shall come to pass." Rev. Donaldson quoted Jesus in the Upper Room: "Greater love has no man than this: that he lay down his life for his friends." All the soldiers gave a lot -- some gave all. Their purpose was to establish peace."

Chamber getting set for Christmas

Don't look now, but six weeks from today will be Christmas!

The realization that the festive season is rapidly sneaking up on us came to the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce last week, when 14 members turned out to discuss Christmas promotion plans. Saturday, December 1, was set as the date for the promotion, which will feature special Christmas shopping prices from 5:00 p.m. to midnight as well as other attractions. A committee consisting of Jeannine Boratyne, Sherry Oszust, Tina Bugej, Vern King and Vicki Brooker was set up, and will hold its first planning meeting at 8:00 a.m. today to get the event set up and ready to go.

Shopping hours, other than for the December 1 promotion, were not set, but it was agreed that stores will remain closed on Boxing Day, December 26.

The Chamber will once again sponsor a lighting and decorating contest for homes, apartments and businesses, but this will take place closer to Christmas. Watch for further details, which will be announced later.

The Chamber heard reports from President Millie Orr, on the Health Care Connection, and from Mark Wilson, Chamber representative to the Community Services Building Committee.

Lest We Forget

Elk Point Royal Canadian Legion President Helen Moneta remembers the members of the Armed Forces who fell in two World Wars and Korea, with the laying of a wreath during Remembrance Day services last Sunday.

Amoco hosts phase II open house

A well attended open house last Wednesday saw the technical aspects and the environmental impact of Amoco Canada's Phase II application explained, and further input from the community gathered in Amoco's ongoing process of 'talking and listening' to district residents regarding the project.

Amoco presently has 150 wells in operation, including 44 new wells drilled in 1989-90, and recently reached the production level of 10,000 barrels per day. The Elk Point field is Amoco Canada's largest net oil producer.

Phase I of Amoco's Elk Point project expires on February 28, 1991, and Amoco is anxious to get Phase II underway. This is not a major expansion, but is consistent with the activity of the past few years, and will show gradual, steady growth, based on a long term commitment to the area over the next 20 years.

In the short term, Phase II will include expansion of the Section 28 central processing facility to a total capacity of 14,500 barrels per day, infill drilling of 28 wells on 20 acre spacing, drilling and operation of a sand cavern for disposal of sand, and creation of pads on existing leases by the use of slant wells. Cyclic steam injection to recover additional oil on Sections 28 and 29 is scheduled to start in 1994. Phase II also adds Sections 10 and 22 of Township 56, Range 6, W4, so that all of Amoco's 100 percent working interest lands are included in the project.

Environmental issues being addressed in Phase II include air quality and odors, which are presently well within the required standards due to proper equipment and low emission rates, rural water wells, which are protected with steel casing cemented to ground level, noise, with heavy trucks restricted to 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. operation in Amoco's 100 percent lands, efficient and effective handling of waste, road maintenance, and some of the oily sand produced as a by-product, the least possible disruption of farming operations, and the hoped-for electrification of wells to reduce noise and exhaust emissions.

Amoco's continuing commitment to keep the public informed will include an upcoming presentation to the Tribal Chiefs Association of Northeast Alberta.

Amoco will also review their Phase II draft with the Energy Resources Conservation Board and Alberta Environment.

Reaction derived from Amoco's July 25 Open House showed that 87 percent of respondents felt sufficient information had been provided, with the balance asking for further details on job creation, environmental impact and the impact oil prices would have on development activity. Open houses were the preferred vehicle for dissemination of information according to 79 percent, while 33 percent preferred to read about developments in the newspaper and Amoco newsletter, and 29 percent liked personal visits by Amoco officials.

The job creation issue was addressed by Community Affairs manager Don Smith, who indicated that Phase II will create both direct and spinoff jobs, with an estimate of the equivalent of 15 to 20 full time drilling and construction jobs each year throughout the life of the project. Local residents could fill 16 of the possible 25 jobs, he noted, while region residents could fill 6 more. He predicted another 20 spinoff jobs will be created. Local businesses will benefit, and capital expenditures will be sizeable, providing Phase II goes as planned.

It was noted that Phase II only deals with Amoco's 100 percent lands, not the land in which they hold a joint interest with other companies. The joint interest lands are covered under a separate agreement. Drilling levels will be based on oil prices, with a rough estimate of 40 new wells for 1991 to be drilled on the joint interest lands.

District foreman Ron Johnson says Amoco is "here to stay" in the Elk Point area, but does not think a permanent field office will be built. "We'll probably stay with the trailers--in Amoco's world, this IS a permanent office."

District Manager Bob Smook noted that the application process for Phase II was somewhat different than it had been for Phase I, and is a "new, more friendly approach" than the old system under which the ERCB advertised applications and "it was up to people to find out on their own what was happening." He feels that Phase II will be a gradual development, dependent on economics, since they have "learned not to depend on oil prices."

Letter to the Editor

Culture day

Dear Editor:

The Frog Lake School is having a Culture Day on Friday, November 16. Elders from the Frog Lake School will open the ceremonies with Cree prayers. There will also be a Mini Pow Wow which will include drum group singers from Kehewin (the Pipestone Singers) as well as two groups from Frog Lake (Wandering Spirit and Young Eagles). The purpose of the Culture Days are to help the students understand their Cree culture and to become more familiar with their native traditions. The Frog Lake School is also involved in a one million dollar addition which is presently under construction. The new addition will include a Home Ec room, an I. A. shop and a science lab. Renovations are also underway for a new computer room and a library. We encourage the community to come out to our school and visit.

Sincerely,
Grade Six Class
Frog Lake School

Amoco Donates To Playground

Ron Johnson of Amoco Canada boosts the Elk Point Elementary School playground building fund with a very generous $ 5000 donation, which is accepted by Darlene Kozicky. Donations of this size will speed the completion of a new playground, made necessary by school expansion.

Hockey cards not just for kids

Elk Point resident Glenn Brovchenko recently revived a childhood hobby, and is rapidly finding out that collecting hockey and baseball cards is much more than a kids' pursuit.

A few weeks ago, the oil company worker talked to former Elk Point resident Eugene Piotrowski, who now lives in Edmonton and is heavily involved with card collecting, and was encouraged to purchase some cards and get a collection underway. He also attended card shows in the city, and purchased more cards and talked to collectors there. The first two weeks of collecting were the toughest, Brovchenko says, explaining that it took more than 10 hours per week to get the cards sorted out. This will drop to about 2 hours per week once the collection is established.

Brovchenko stores some of the cards in albums and some in hard plastic boxes, and says that the secret to collecting is "looking after the cards. Serious collectors want mint condition cards." Pinholes and bent corners seriously detract from the value of the cards.

So far, Brovchenko has not obtained any super-exciting cards, but he has seen a few, including a hologram Stanley Cup card, of which only 1000 were made, and which is worth $ 1000. He has also seen a Bobby Orr rookie card, which is worth $ 1500. Gretsky rookie cards are worth $ 800, while other Gretsky cards can be worth up to $ 125. Cards from the Gretsky era, 1979-80 and newer, are the best to collect, Brovchenko says.

Brovchenko is increasing his collection by buying, trading and selling, putting the proceeds back into his hobby. He has had card shows at the Westbrook Mall in St. Paul to introduce the hobby to this area, and will be setting one up at the OORP Flea Market here this Saturday. If anyone is interested in getting started with a collection, Brovchenko is willing to offer his help. A recent classified advertisement has already brought numerous calls for information on this interesting hobby.

Collecting cards is something anyone can do. "A kid can start with a dollar and build up a huge collection in a few years." Stop by Glenn Brovchenko's booth at the Flea Market and see for yourself what card collecting is all about.

Chamber

They also heard a presentation by Stan Parke of Vermilion, this area's representative for Chamber of Commerce Group Insurance. He said that the Chamber insurance is especially geared to very small businesses, to which very few insurance agencies will offer disability insurance and the other coverage listed under the plan and its options. Parke noted that the plan "won't solve all the problems" but could help provide funding to keep a business going in the case of short or long term disability striking the proprietor. For each member business signed up under the plan, the Chamber receives a small administration fee on a regular basis.

Curling gets go-ahead

A small but determined group of Elk Point curlers met last week and agreed that curling must go ahead this year, even if it means increasing fees and rentals, and cutting back on paid staff for the curling rink.

Those present agreed to a 50 per cent hike in league curling fees, which will now be $90 for the first league and $40 to curl in a second league. Ice rentals also went up 50 percent, and advertising space in the rink was increased as well.

Due to the small number of registrations for the ladies' league, it was decided that both ladies and men will curl on Wednesday evenings, with the mixed league going Tuesdays. The ice should be ready for league play by November 27.

Watch for further information about the Family Fun League, which will be going Friday nights from November 30 to the end of February, at a very reasonable rate geared at getting the younger set and less experienced curlers out there having a good time with the rest of the curling fans.

MORE CURLERS ARE NEEDED for all leagues. Please contact Dave Yake at 724-4200 or 724-3046 for more information.

While the club will continue their practice of hiring a lounge manager, putting in and maintaining the ice and running the concession booth will become the job of volunteers from the membership.

With costs cut in all possible ways, the club is also seeking new fund-raising ideas. A committee was struck to investigate the possibility of running bingos, also the members decided to approach corporate citizens regarding the possibility of obtaining donations toward operation of the facility, and to ask these businesses to encourage their employees to curl.

Dates for this season's bonspiels have been set. The Mixed Spiel goes February 14 through 17, with the Men's Open on March 1 to 3, Oilmen's on March 8 to 10, Ladies Open on March 15 to 17 and Town and Country on March 22 to 24.

Environment tips

Think about this:

--An aluminum can takes about 1000 years to decompose.

--Aluminum makes up about 8 percent of the earth's surface. Aluminum cans can be recycled indefinitely; aluminum loses none of its qualities in the recycling process.

--Alberta families throw out 400 million kilograms of paper, 70 million kilograms of cans and metals, and 15 million kilograms of glass per year.

--Recycling one tonne of waste paper saves 17 mature trees.

--The average Alberta family of four produces almost 2 tonnes of household garbage every year.

National violence prevention month Suspected child abuse must be reported

Stephen Montgomery

Community Services Director

Child abuse is anything that endangers the development, security or survival of a child.

Our increasing knowledge of the needs of children and the effects of their social environment on their growth and development is changing what we view as child abuse. Some practices which were once acceptable are now considered abusive. Alberta's Child Welfare Act and Canada's Criminal Code set out in legal terms the behaviours and conditions that are considered so harmful that it is necessary to stop them. The following are the main kinds of abuse:

Physical abuse is the intentional use of force that results in serious injuries. It may be a single incident or a series or patterns of incidents. The Criminal Code says that physical force cannot be used on children unless the force used is "reasonable" and "corrective". Physical abuse can cause severe psychological or physical damage. Psychologically, a child may feel unwanted, worthless and bad and may be violent with other people when he or she grows up.

Emotional abuse is anything that causes serious mental or emotional harm to a child. It may take the form of verbal attacks on a child's sense of self, repeated humiliation or rejection. Exposure to violence or severe conflict in the home, forced isolation, restraint, or causing a child to be afraid much of the time may also cause emotional harm. Emotional abuse is usually part of a particular way of relating to children. It can cause feelings of worthlessness, anxiety and insecurity. The effects may show up as aggression, delayed development or depression.

Sexual abuse is the improper exposure of a child to sexual contact, activity or behavior by anyone in whose care a child has been left. Sexual abuse of a child is a criminal offence of a very serious nature.

A child who is abused may blame themselves, believing that they have done something to deserve the abuse. Some abused children grow up to repeat the abusive child-rearing style of their parents.

The causes of abuse are very complicated. There are many factors that contribute to it. Some parents believe it is their right to control their children by whatever means they think is necessary. Other parents are abusive because they are unwilling to care for their children properly. Such unwilling parents usually think that their own needs are more important than their children's. Some parents abuse their children because they themselves were abused and they don't know any other way to raise their children. Some children are abused because their parents have too few resources. They may not have enough time, energy, or money. Stress can often lead to abuse.

Suspected child abuse must be reported. It is a moral responsibility for everyone in the community. It is also a legal responsibility. The Child Welfare Act states that any person who has reasonable grounds to believe a child is in need of protective services must report these suspicions. The Act also states that the duty to report overrides any right of confidentiality or privilege a person in a profession or occupation may claim. Any such report is always treated confidentially by Social Services.

To report suspected child abuse contact your local Social Services agency or phone the child abuse hotline, 0-Zenith-1234.

In Our View

Thanks for remembering

It was indeed heartwarming to see so many people clustered around the cenotaph on Sunday morning. A fear is often expressed that younger generations will not keep up the tradition of remembering those who died so long ago to give this country freedom. A good attendance at a Remembrance Day observance, by people of all ages from small babies to the seniors who do, all too well, remember the horrors of war, helps to dispell thoughts that someday we will forget the sacrifices of those who fought for peace. Thanks to all who attended.

More than prayers

The upcoming anniversary of the Elk Point United Church reminds us of how long these religious edifices have been a part of our community's life, and how much they have changed over that time.

Our older readers will remember the days when churches came without electric lights, and when heat was provided by a wood-fed potbelly stove. Parishioners took turns sweeping the floor, and occasionally had a work bee to spruce up the building, if a dollar or two could be found for a can of paint. Parishioners often didn't have much to give, and the small amount in the collection plate was sometimes supplemented by bringing the preacher a chicken, or some fresh vegetables, or a basket of eggs.

Those days are long gone, and times have changed substantially. Churches now have gas fired heating units, running water and electric lights, and therefore they have utility bills, just like our homes and businesses, which are similarly equipped. As churches grew, it became too much of a chore for the parishioners to do the cleaning, so a janitor was needed. And a spruce up leads to heavy expense.

One thing that is like the old days, is the small amount in the collection plate. Considering that the preacher requires money to live on, the same as the rest of us, it is often very hard to stretch the available funding to cover all the needs.

You will hear people remark that churches didn't charge for the use of the building when they were married, twenty or thirty or forty years ago, and they are shocked to find that now a fee structure is in place. Maybe one reason they aren't aware of these changes is that to them, church is for marrying, baptizing babies and burying—not a place to go in between those occasions. Those who do go on a more regular basis are aware that the churches in this town are busy places, with regular weekly services and special events going on. The funding to keep the building operational, and to provide a livelihood for the preacher, has to come from somewhere. No other facility is available for functions without the paying of a user fee, so why should a church be different? The public is welcome to use it every Sunday, at no cost, as a place of worship, and this is as it should be. But for other occasions, it is only right that a fee be charged.

The churches of this community do a big job, of ministering to our spiritual needs and providing a place for us to worship. What better way can we say thank you for the blessings we receive, than to share them with the church we attend? More than prayers are needed to keep those churches operating in our community.

Flags To Be Proud Of

Our Maple Leaf Canadian flag comes out for sports and political events—as it should—but what's wrong with saluting it in our hearts a bit more often? P. S. We like our Alberta flag, too!

Alberta Trails

For Canada - a flag

Irene Magnusson
Weekly Commentary

We are so used to seeing our nice red Maple Leaf flag fluttering from flagpoles, pinned on our walls, decorating our stamps, that we may forget how short the time is since we Canadians had our own flag.

True, we've always had a flag fluttering over us, from the first landing, I suppose, but it was always someone else's flag - not Canada's.

Who knows what was flown in those early days, post-fourteen hundred and ninety-two, when the first explorers set their pointy boots on this soil which has become Canada? Certainly, it would have been the flag of whichever country the conquerors came from - England, France Spain, Norway - I wherever. I think they have waved flags for a very long time, over the 'Old' countries.

So, eventually, as the land became more settled and some folks were starting to think of Canada as worth having, they started thinking of a flag. Would you believe, until 1965, Canada didn't have its own flag? Prior to that, we had use of the British Empire Union Jack - a good old flag, and one we regretted losing - still, it was not OUR flag.

I suspect the French Red and White and Blue hung over a good part of New France, now Quebec. And we were granted use of the Canadian Ensign, which is a red ground with a Union Jack in the upper corner, next to the pole, and the Canadian Coat of Arms in the centre of the remaining red space. This flag was (and perhaps is) used by the Navy.

For countless years, the discussion raged. How could we have our own flag? After all, we were part of the British Commonwealth of Nations, and over us all, the Union Jack held sway.

But the need grew, and the burr under the blanket itched. There were countless debates, and suggestions. The French influence had the blue ground, with three Fleurs-de-lis (golden lilies), which symbolize the Trinity, and this was used during the time, when the French were the rulers, but after the battle of 1760, on the Fields of Abraham, there had to be a change.

That's when the Union Jack took precedence; later the Red Ensign was allowed.

But finally, we were down to the crunch. A Canadian flag, and only ours, was the cry of many. Of course, many were happy enough with the one we were using.

These flags were carried and fought under in both WWI and WWII. In 1945, the Red Ensign was allowed to be flown over government buildings, and at other formal functions. Many Canadians absorbed the Red Ensign as Canada's own flag, while many others still held out for the Union Jack.

As long ago as 1925, the then Prime Minister appointed a committee to come up with a design for a Canadian flag. They got nowhere. For the next twenty years, debate in the House of Commons went on over what to do about the Canadian flag issue. In 1946, a committee brought out a design, which had both the Union Jack and a maple leaf on it, but this too was rejected. The next almost-made-it design had three maple leaves on a white ground in the centre, with red stripes on each end.

Debate (doesn't this all sound familiar?) went on, from June 15, 1964, until September 10, when P.M. Lester B. Pearson appointed a committee to come up with a design. Again this was debated, until finally Lester B. & Co. called a 'closure' and, at long last, on December 15, 1964, the design was accepted in The House by a vote of 163 to 78. The Senate then had a go at it, and two days later, it was accepted there, too.

On January 28, 1965, HRH Queen Elizabeth II, proclaimed that from February 15 and on, the Red Maple Leaf on White ground, as we know it today, would be the official flag of Canada. Long may it wave!

It's nice to have an official flag at last, although many Canadians do not remember ever not having one. They hang over all government buildings, most schools, inside or out, and we wave them frantically at sports events and the like. It is easy to draw a replica of, not nearly so complicated as the Union Jack, with its many strips, of varying widths, all of which we memorized so well.

The Maple Leaf seems to be a symbol of Canada, and especially down there around Ottawa, where it was chosen, and the red is no lie, for along about September, those maple trees that grow over there in the east do turn a most delicious red, and they hang on for a goodly while, too, so all can enjoy them. I saw lots of them out in B.C., too around the Vancouver area, quite as red as those in the Gatineau Hills, north of Hull. Around here, we seldom see any leaves that red - pincherries and wild rose bushes, perhaps.

At least I'm glad we didn't get that rascally little beaver, a most destructive rodent, on our Flag. On a nickle is OK; we don't think quite as much of a five cent piece as we do of our flag - or at least we shouldn't. There will be lots of flags flying and many a salute over this Remembrance Day weekend. Aren't you glad we have our bright red Maple Leaf flag to honor?

Curling club draw

Elk Point Curling Club made the draw for their television raffle during their Halloween Dance, October 27, with the grand prize going to Teddy Yarmuch. Second prize of $150 cash went to Tony Peters, and third of $100 was won by Virginia Mudryk. Prizes for the best costumes went to "Michael Jackson," a pair of penguins and a werewolf.

Skating arena in full swing

Irene Magnusson
Staff Writer

A short visit to the Dr. A.G. Ross Agri-Plex, now in full ice, showed that skating by the youngsters has not gone out of favor. On this Monday, November 5th, afternoon, with school just out, the place was swarming with young hopefuls, decked out in their skating garb, ready to hit the ice for the first twirls of the season.

There was a goodly sprinkling of adults among them, too, showing parents are able and willing to 'go along' to see their youngsters get into the spirit of skate safely.

After watching the youngsters glide about, some looking like 3 year-olds, who could skate better than I've ever been able to, as well as the older ones, all flying around over the ice in unstructured harmony, I'm thinking, 'I'll have to go back, from time to time. This looks like a lot of fun.'

A smiling lady in the entry was keeping tabs of things, and was willing to give me a bit of information. The program, she said is under President Sylvia Kleeberger. There are 66 kids, ranging from 3 to 16 years, registered - some taking more than one course. There is a 22 person precision team; 7 tots, ages 3-4; 9 pre-beginners, ages 4-5; 23 in CanSkate; 11 in CanFigure; and 19 kids taking private lessons (CSFA).

Coaches are: tots and pre-beginners - CanSkate - Jackie Whiffin-Peters; CanFigure, Precision and Amateur Coaching - Leanne Wozniak and Pattie Ann Laboucane.

This sounds to me like the junior skating program is going well, and in good hands. A wonderful opportunity offered to the youngsters of the town and vicinity. Keep the blades flying!

Floor Curling Funspiel

Lilly Sass
Seniors Floor Curling

On November 8, the Elk Point Senior Citizens Floor Curling Club held a Funspiel in which 10 rinks participated. Each rink had 4 games, played by the point system.

Orville Swedgan's rink, including Doris Capjack, Bessie Jendruck and Hazel Hannah, were top with 83 points. Morris Cooper's rink, with Niki Riemer and Helen Kozicky, took the consolation with 24 points.

The whole day was a real fun day, starting at 9 a.m. and ending at 5 p.m. with a delicious potluck supper which everyone enjoyed immensely.

Many thanks to our curling committee, lunch committee and everyone for participating, which helped to make our funspiel such a huge success.

Ice Time

The ice is ready, and skates are on for the first spin over the gleaming surface as the first skating club session of the season gets underway.

Norcen Support Appreciated

Norcen Energy Resources continues to support AA Hockey in northeast Alberta. Shown above is Allan Frankiw in his office at Norcen with Aaron Aarbo and Darcy Pankiw of Elk Point who were successful in making the Bonnyville AA Bantam Sabres team.

Norcen Energy Resources in full support of AA hockey

By Harvey Aarbo

By being one of the major sponsors of Bonnyville AA Bantam Sabres, Norcen Energy Resources is not only supporting one of the highest level hockey leagues in Alberta, but also supporting two farm boys from the rural Elk Point area in which Norcen Energy works.

Teams in the East Central AA Bantam Hockey League are Strathcona, Sherwood Park, St. Albert, Lloydminster, Vegreville, Norab in Smoky Lake, Fort McMurray and Bonnyville. Although the Bonnyville Sabres team consists of 10 first year and 5 second year bantams, compared to the bigger centres who have mostly second year bantam players, the Sabres are still very competitive, winning 4 out of the 8 first games. Being one of the most scouted leagues in Alberta, already some of the Bonnyville Sabres are being followed by teams in the Tier I Western Hockey League and Tier II Alberta Junior A Hockey League.

The Sabres would like to thank all those sponsors who help make playing in the AA League a possibility in northeast Alberta.

Transport trucks to season opener win

The wraps came off for the 1990-91 novice division minor hockey season on Saturday, November 3 as the Hi-Way 28 East Minor Hockey League's novice division played season opening league games on four fronts.

The Elk Point Byers Transport Blues, behind the four goal performance of Benjamin Matthews and the two period shut-out goal tending performance of Tyler Vincent, skated to a convincing 6-2 home and season opening victory over the St. Paul Reds.

The Blues were staked to a 2-0 first period lead, on B. Matthews' first two goals of the game. The first goal came on a set-up from older brother Nathan, while the second one came off assists from Jordan Bassett and Spencer Easthope.

The Blues lead was increased to 4-0 after two periods, with Ben Matthews having accounted for all the scoring up to this point. The third marker was assisted by Nathan Matthews, the fourth goal being an unassisted effort.

The teams traded third period goals with Joshua Kutryk and Nathan Matthews scoring unassisted for the Blues. Brent Labrie and Daniel Mahe, both also unassisted, managed the St. Paul scoring to prevent Elk Point from keeping St. Paul off the score sheet.

Capitols produce victory

Sitting on the sidelines one week ago, when the Atom Division commenced their 1990-91 season schedule, did not prove to have any detrimental effects for the Elk Point IDA Capitols.

In their season opener at home on November 3, the Capitols struggled in the early going against a well-matched St. Paul "A" squad. It was evident that St. Paul had a game under their belts and Elk Point had not, as the home team was not firing on all cylinders.

St. Paul opened and closed the scoring in the first period of the game, with the Capitols sandwiching a goal in between. Sean Lafrance opened scoring at 7:17 with an assist to Stephanie Richard. Neil Kozicky countered for the Capitols at 10:27 of the period on an unassisted effort. Oliver Zarowny completed all the scoring for the period with a goal at 13:50.

Whatever rustiness the Capitols exhibited in the first period soon abated, as the big blue machine looked to have been oiled in the right places between periods. Goals by Conway Roscoe at 8:22 and 14:53 of the period, the first with an assist to Ferlin Quinney, the second unassisted, put the Capitols ahead 3-2.

The Capitols increased their lead in the third period continuing their sharp passing plays with two further goals. Roscoe, unassisted at 3:56, and Kozicky from Roscoe at 11:20, extended their advantage to 5-2. St. Paul scored with under five minutes remaining with Sean Lafrance getting his second goal of the match at the 20:29 mark. Only brilliant goaltending by the St. Paul puck stopper prevented the Capitols from winning a much larger margin.

A jubilant team exchanged sportsmanlike pleasantries with their opposition at the conclusion of the game, prior to proceeding in vocal fashion to the confines of their dressing room.

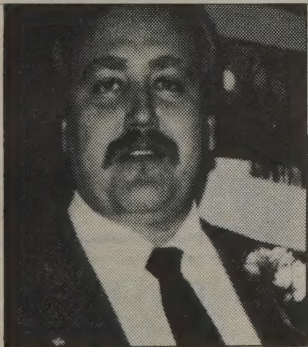

Charlton promoted to HO

Congratulations to David Charlton, who has been promoted to Head of Sales for Nowasco Oil Well Services head office in Calgary. He will now be head of sales for all of Western Canada.

Charlton has worked for Nowasco for 12 years, and has worked his way up from a beginning as truck driver to his new position in the head office, gaining considerable experience along the way.

David Charlton is the son of Jean and Dale Charlton, and his wife Donna is the daughter of Chris and Barry McFadyen. They and their two daughters will be moving to Calgary, and will be much missed in the community, where Charlton was an avid participant in hockey and golf.

NEVER AGAIN!

A War Amps video series

"In a war, everyone suffers... we must never let it happen again."

The War Amps believes it has a responsibility to warn younger generations about the true horrors of war. Who better to recount the battles as they really happened than the veterans who experienced war first-hand? The NEVER AGAIN! videos provide historical accounts of Canada's participation in the First and Second World Wars and Korea.

LENGTH WISE

Alberta's forest industry is on the move and logging trucks are now a common sight on many of our roads.

Logging trucks carry heavy loads, so it's not easy to stop or turn these trucks in a hurry. And, because of their greater length, they make a much larger sweep when they turn.

For safety's sake, please watch out for logging route signs, rear load streamers and logging truck lights. Approach these vehicles with caution - never pass on narrow roads and never, never follow too close.

Be length wise. Give logging trucks the room and respect they need.

What's news at the library?

A reminder that Janet Foster will be in the library Wednesday evening, November 14th at 7:30 p.m. Do not miss the opportunity to see this well known wildlife photographer and author.

The Elk Point Public Library sponsored Marjorie Holland, children's author, in the Elementary School for grades four, five and six on November 8th, in honour of the Canadian Children's Book Festival. Mrs. Holland was very well received by the students. This visit was made possible by the support of many interested organizations including the Alberta Government, Alberta Foundation for the Literary Arts and many book publishers. Thanks to all of them.

NEW VIDEOS:

Four new videos have just been released by the International Hockey Centre of Excellence. These new videos will assist you in teaching and learning the skills of the game. They are now in the library video collection.

1) "Puck Control and Deking with Dave King": Dave King leads a group of Atom hockey players through a series of on-ice progression drills for puck control and deking. Dave also highlights key technical points and teaching cues. Length: 40 minutes; ages 5-15.

2) "Skating, Balance and Power Cont. on Next Page

Church anniversary

Elk Point United Church has served local congregations for a total of 63 years, ever since their first services were held in 1927 in a building located along what is now Highway 41, with Rev. Reginald Smith as the first resident minister. The present church hall was built in 1957, with the sanctuary added and the completed building dedicated on November 7, 1962, with Rev. David Edmards the minister at that time.

An anniversary service to commemorate the founding of Elk Point United Church will be held on Sunday, November 18, and plans are underway to make this an annual event. Refreshments will be served following the service, and everyone is welcome to come and renew their acquaintance with friends and neighbors of days gone by.

Lodge tea a big success

The Elk Point Heritage Lodge Auxiliary held their annual Fall Tea and Bake Sale on Saturday, November 3 with a nice crowd on hand to make tables full of baked goods and crafts disappear to eager buyers, before they sat down to a hearty tea lunch.

A number of draws were made at the end of the afternoon.

A large fruit basket donated by the Elk Point Co-op was won by Mike Musijowski. A huge food hamper donated by the Auxiliary members was won by Catherine Poleschuk. Edith Womacks won the gingerbread house which was made by Heritage Lodge staff member Loris Kozina.

The 50-50 draw was won by Iris Drapaka of Glendon.

The beautiful handmade afghan donated by Rose Pankow was won by Shirley Pacholek.

The four winners of the pull ticket raffle were also drawn at this event: $100 winners were Rick's Video, Elk Point and Aaron Maksymec, Edmonton, while $50 winners were Margaret Lyttle, Elk Point and Marion Nesdaly, Calgary.

The Heritage Lodge Auxiliary extends their most heartfelt thanks to all the donors for the raffles, bake and craft tables, cash donations, all the Heritage Lodge staff and also to everyone who supported this very successful event with their presence. Anyone interested in joining the Heritage Lodge Auxiliary, please feel welcome to call 724-4449 or come in and pick up a form from the Heritage Lodge Dining Room.

Draws Very Popular

A number of prize draws drew almost as much attention at the Heritage Lodge Tea and Bake Sale as did the heavily laden bake table.

Important Changes to Unemployment Insurance

Below are the highlights of changes to the Unemployment Insurance (UI) Act. These changes will affect most claims that start on or after November 18, 1990.

Qualifying for benefits

After November 18, you will need 10-20 weeks of work within the past year to qualify for regular UI benefits. The exact number of weeks you will need and how long you will be able to collect these benefits will depend on the unemployment rate in your area.

Maternity/Parental benefits

Parents may be eligible for 15 weeks of maternity benefits (available to the mother) plus 10 weeks of parental benefits (available to either the mother or the father).

Parental benefits are also available in the case of an adoption.

Leaving a job

Individuals who leave their job without "just cause", are fired for misconduct or refuse a suitable job offer, can be penalized by losing from 7 to 12 weeks of benefits and having the amount of benefits reduced.

Working after age 65

If you work after age 65, you may now be eligible for UI. This change will be retroactive to September 23, 1988.
